APPLICATION EXPERTISE

HID addresses the most demanding secure contactless applications.

INDUSTRY & LOGISTICS

When the goal is seamless traceability that enables reduction of losses and human handling errors while improving processing speeds, industry and logistics and automation customers use HID RFID tags and systems. A wide variety of assets from beer kegs, to laundry, and medical devices to waste bins can be easily identified and tracked. Transponders feature frequencies ranging from low and high frequency to UHF at excellent price-to-performance ratios. Many tags in the portfolio have characteristics that provide accurate, reliable reading, even in metal environments or after exposure to harsh conditions.

ANIMAL IDENTIFICATION

HID develops and manufactures a wide range of RFID transponders specifically designed for livestock, pet, and small animal identification. We work diligently with systems integrators to create innovative solutions that continue to ensure the health and well being of animals and consumers alike.

CARDS & INLAYS

Businesses, people and systems around the world take advantage of HID Global's contactless expertise in automatic fare collection, contactless payment, loyalty and access control. In addition to basic cards, multi-technology combo cards and prelaminate, HID offers standard and customizable keyfobs, contactless stickers, and band form factors to satisfy the needs presented by unique applications.

Partner with a trusted advisor

Become an HID Global partner and leverage our quality reputation and application expertise to capture new sales opportunities, and bring best-in-class secure contactless solutions to your customers.

Field-proven performance

HID Global components are manufactured to high quality standards. Every component is backed by our expertise, engineering support and world-renowned customer service. Our reliable products give you—and your customers—confidence that your secure contactless solutions will perform to specifications and deliver durable, long life in your systems.

Strong partnerships

We are committed to building long-term relationships, supporting you with consultation, training and solutions that work. Our application experts have proven know-how in designing to compliance, and we provide responsive technical support, delivery and customer service to help you meet customer requirements and reduce installation or implementation time frames.

Full interoperability

We offer the broadest portfolio of interoperable secure identity solutions in the industry, making it faster, easier and more cost efficient to integrate our products into the solutions you bring to your customers. And, for those customers with legacy systems, HID convergence solutions enable seamless migration to the newest technologies with the final result being maximum versatility at an attractive cost of ownership.

Custom solutions

HID custom design capabilities are second to none, and we've partnered with many customers to develop RFID solutions for unique needs. If your application demands special performance or capabilities, trust HID for the expertise to bring it to life. Our unique platforms and interoperable technology speed custom development. Plus, we can share our ongoing knowledge of emerging technologies to ensure you'll get the best solutions available.
